BURGOYNE, [John] Lieutenant-General . A State Of The Expedition from Canada, as Laid Before the House of Commons London: J. Almon, 1780. Illustrated with folding map and 5 folding plans, drawn by Medcalfe and engraved by William Faden. Large quarto (10.5 x 8.25 inches) , full polished calf, ruled in gilt, lettered in gilt on spine with raised bands, all edges gilt, marbled endpapers . Edges a little rubbed and two very small “gouges” on front cover, a few preliminary and terminal leaves with a little foxing, old name in brown ink on recto of first fly leaf, else fine. First edition.

$7,500.00

This is Burgoyne’s defense of his conduct as the commander of the British expedition down the Hudson Valley from Canada in 1777. Intended to cut off the New England colonies from the rest of rebellious America, the expedition ended in disaster in Saratoga, where American forces soundly defeated Burgoyne and forced his capitulation. Herein Burgoyne answers the inquiry of the House of Commons, demonstrating that the forces he was given were not sufficient to accomplish the task. This is the most important source for information about the campaign, illustrated with excellent maps and plans.

This is also Burgoyne’s well-illustrated account of his famous Hudson Valley campaign, which ended in his surrender at Schuylerville and turned the tide by precipitating French entry into the Revolution on the American side. Burgoyne’s writing is interesting and historically of inestimable significance, by documenting one of the crucial moments of the American Revolution.

The plans are beautifully drawn by Mr. Medcalfe and engraved by William Faden. They depict the troop positions at Bennington, Huberton, and the several battles near Saratoga. All with key positions and routes coloured by hand.

The maps are:

Map of the County in Which the Army of Burgoyne Acted in the Campaign of 1777.

Plan of the Action at Huberton.

Postiion of the Detachment uner Leity. Col. Baum at Walmscock near Bennington.

Plan of th Encampment at Swords House.

Plan of the Encampment at Braemus Heights.

Postiion which the Army took at Saratoga.

CLINTON, Sir Henry and [CORNWALLIS, Earl] . Narrative of Lieutenant-General Sir Henry Clinton, K. B. Relative to His Conduct During Part of His Command of the King's Troops in North America; Particularly to that Which Respects the Unfortunate Issue of the Campaign in 1781. With an Appendix Containing Copies and Extracts of those Parts of His Correspondence with Lord George Germain, Earl Cornwallis, Rear Admiral Graves, &c. London: J. Debrett, 1783. Four items. Octavo, three-quarter burgundy calf over marbled boards, gilt lettered spine, marbled endpapers . Spine ends a little worn, slight rubbing to edges, interior fine. Bound without the half title. First edition. With errata leaf.

$2,500.00

This is a series of pamphlets issued during the Clinton-Cornwallis controversy which was, in turn, fuelled by Clinton's certainty that the Commissioners had always favoured Cornwallis, and that it was Cornwallis' ineptitude and opinions that led to the catastrophic termination of the above-mentioned accusations. The question of leadership of the British troops during the Revolution, and the competition between Cornwallis and Clinton, led to its own "war" of correspondence between the two men.

2.) An Answer To That Part Of the Narrative of Lieutenant-General Sir Henry Clinton, K. B. Which Related to the Conduct of Lieutenant-General Earl Cornwallis During the Campaign in North-Amerca, in the Year 1781. Together with: A Reply To Sir Henry Clinton's Narrative Wherein His Numerous Errors Are Pointed Out and the Conduct of Lord Cornwallis Fully Vindicated from All Aspersion ... London: J. Debrett, 1783. First edition with the errata leaf and folding leaves. Two volumes bound in one. Octavo, expertly rebacked, three-quarter brown calf over marbled boards, red gilt lettered spine label, preserving original endpapers. Slight rubbing of edges and corners, very light fading at gutter of title leaf, bookplate of Geo. Drummond on front pastedown, very slight foxing on title page, else fine.

The two works were written as a response to Sir Henry Clinton's claim that Cornwallis was in the main responsible for the disastrous campaign that ended in defeat at Yorktown with the final loss of the American colonies. "Cornwallis' acrimonious answer" and reply consists in large part of the correspondence between Lieutenant-General Clinton, Lord George Germain and Lieutenant-General Cornwallis and intercepted letters from General George Washington. In all, a fine account of the events that led up to the final victory in America's war for independence.

3.) A Letter from Lieut. Gen. Sir Henry Clinton, K.B. to the Commissioners of Public Accounts, Relative to Some Observations in their Seventh Report, Which May Be Judged to Imply Censure on the late Commanders in Chief of His Majesty's Army in North America. London: Printed for J. Debrett, 1784. Octavo, four signatures sewn by cotton thread. Outer leaves browned, else fine.

4.) HYMA, Albert. Sir Henry Clinton and the American Revolution. Ann Arbor: University of Michigan, 1957. Octavo, blue printed wrappers. Spine browned, else fine.

[HOWE, William] . [GALLOWAY, Joseph] . A Reply to the Observations of Lieut. Gen. Sir William Howe, On a Pamphlet, Entitled Letters to a Nobleman: In Which His Misrepresentations are Detected, and Those Letters are Supported, by a Variety of New Matter and Argument. To Which is Added An Appendix London: Printed for G. Wilkie, 1780. Octavo, original gray wrappers . Spine a bit cocked, missing paper at ends, wrappers a little foxed, interior fine. First edition.

During the British occupation of Philadelphia in 1777-1778 Galloway was a "Superintendent" and Loyalist. In this volume he replies to General Howe's Observations, and elaborates how Howe could and should have won the war. Galloway counters Howe's claim that he was forced to fight in forest by pointing out that in many place more than three quarter of the land and at a minimum two thirds of the land in question was cleared farm land. Even though Galloway sounds hostile there is important information and details on the Revolution, the nature of the countryside and more.

JEFFERYYS, Thomas. The American Atlas: or, A Geographical Description of the Whole Continent of America. Wherein Are Delineated at Large, Its Several Regions, Countries, States, and Islands; and Chiefly the British Colonies. London: Printed and Sold by R. Sayer and J. Bennett, Map and Print Sellers, 1775. Illustrated with 22 maps, most large fold out with coloured outlines. Folio (approx. 21-7/8 x 15-3/4 inches), rebound to period with three quarter brown calf over marbled boards. Maps in fine condition, clean, crisp and clear with no foxing or browning. First edition. To say that The American Atlas is the most important collection of maps from the 18th century is no exaggeration. It is the most comprehensive, accurate and detailed collection of maps and surveys of the American continent and of the American colonies just prior to the beginning of the Revolutionary War. It has been described thus "geographical description of the whole continent of America [both North and South America], as portrayed in the best available maps in the latter half of the 18th century ..." -Ristow.

The scarce first edition of David Humphreys' celebrated and lasting biography of Revolutionary War General Israel Putnam. Humphreys himself performed heroically during the Revolution, and was much admired by George Washington. The book is still a useful source, containing a storehouse of firsthand anecdotes regarding Putnam's wartime exploits. Humphreys "had a natural talent or military science, and there are few more intelligent contemporary pictures of certain important campaigns, notably the battle of Long Island and the retreat from Harlem, than those contained in his Essay. In this he wrote as he fought, coolly and vigorously, and the book remains a testimonial to Putnam, to the effort and sacrifice of those stirring days, and to Humphreys own victorious good sense" -DAB. Quarto (10-3/8 x 8-3/8 inches), original full tree calf tooled in blind, decorated in gilt, morocco spine labels in red and orange lettered in gilt, all edges marbled, marbled endpapers. Edges and boards a little scuffed, bookplates on front pastedown, old inscription in brown ink on verso of front free endpaper in vol. I, occasional light foxing. A very nice set. First edition.

First edition of a work that is fundamental to any collection of books relating to the American Revolution. This work is "generally considered the best contemporary account of the Revolution written from the British side" - Sabin. The beautifully engraved maps (the largest of which is approximately 20 x 30 inches) constitute the finest collection of plans assembled by an eyewitness. They depict the sieges of Savannah and Charlestown, plus the battles of Saratoga, Camden, Guilford, Hobkirk's Hill, and Yorktown. Stedman was a native of Philadelphia, a Loyalist who served as an officer under Howe, Clinton, and Cornwallis, and later became an examiner of Loyalist claims for the British government. He had first-hand knowledge of many of the campaigns and persons involved in the effort. He is critical of Howe, and describes all the major theaters of war, as well as individual battles from Bunker Hill to Yorktown. [Gephart 1033. Sabin 91057. Howes 914, "b". JCB II:372. TARLETON, Lieutenant-Colonel [Banastre]. A History of the Campaigns of 1780 and 1781, in the Southern Provinces of North America. London: T. Cadell, 1787. vii, [1]- 518, ii. Illustrated with large folding map, "Marches of Lord Cornwallis" with hand coloured routes of troop movements (expertly repaired diagonal tear); the Battle plans of Camden, Guildford and York with hand coloured positions of the various parties, the Siege of Charlestown being the only un-embellished plan, all folding and all in fine, crisp, clean condition. Large quarto (10-7/8 x 8-3/8 inches), expertly rebacked preserving original spine strip, full original tree calf, marbled endpapers, top edges stained dark, others stained yellow. Slight rubbing of edges, else fine. First edition, with errata page. With the two pages of publisher's advertisements.

Tarleton, infamous for his brutal tactics, was commander of a Tory cavalry unit, the British Legion, and served in America from May 1776 through the siege of Yorktown. His is one of the principal British accounts of the revolution. Tarleton's use of original documents sets this narrative apart, many of which are included as notes following the chapters.

Tarleton served under Cornwallis and one of his primary missions was the capture of Charleston in 1780. He was highly critical of Cornwallis and the British High Command. He attributed his defeat at Cowpens to lack of co-operation from Cornwallis. [Howes T37, "b". Church 1224. Clark I: 317. Sabin 94397].

WEEMS, John Edward. Men Without Countries. Three Adventurers of the Early Southwest. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co, 1969. Illustrated with drawings by Rick Duiker. Octavo, blue stamped spine over orange cloth revealing orange lettering, with map endpapers, dust jacket (spine browned, some wear). Spotting of top edges, else fine. First edition.

“James Wilkinson, Philip Nolan, and Peter Ellis Bean were shrewd, self-seeking individuals who, at one time or another, dealt with or fought for the United States, Mexico, or Spain, which, in 1800, still held the land west of the Mississippi River. Their lives, which interwove, spanned nearly a full century, from Wilkinson’s birth in 1757 to Bean’s death in 1846.” -from the dust jacket.

WILKINSON, General James. Memoirs Of My Own Times. Philadelphia: Abraham Small, 1816. 4 volumes, including atlas. Vol. I has all plates and tables to match Streeter; has 34 (not 42) pp of Appendix and has no errata leaves (of 2). Vol. II lacks the half title, else collates correctly. Vol. III collates. Illustrated with maps and plans in atlas volume; three folding, and two coloured, 18 altogether. Thick octavo; atlas large quarto, full contemporary tree calf, red morocco gilt lettered spine labels, all edges stained yellow. Atlas volume in original gray boards, brown leather gilt lettered spine strip. Edges of boards a little rubbed, some spotting and rubbing of boards, leaves a little browned and slightly foxed throughout.

Contemporary name in ink on front free endpapers and title pages. Boards of atlas creased at upper edge, title page and advertisement leaves with some waterstaining, plans and maps fine. First edition. Rare, complete with atlas.

The work begins with Wilkinson’s appointment to the Continental Army in 1776 and ends with the end of the War of 1812. The Atlas illustrates battles in both wars; the text volumes are a long and detailed narrative of memoir justifying Wilkinson’s actions.

[Gephart 14746. Howes W429. Streeter 1706. Phillips Atlases 1344].
